The Gradient tool allows you to create very realistic, semi-transparent gradients by using a range of pre-set color combinations. Gradients can be used for a variety of effects, including creating simple color effects in an image or replacing the background. Here are some examples. The Eraser tools allow you to erase pixels, making adjustments to the pixels that you have erased. You can use this tool to make adjustments to things like shadows and highlights and to remove unwanted objects from a picture. You can also use it to fix minor scratches and dust and to add highlights, shadows, and gradient effects. The Paths tools allow you to manually create or adjust paths or shapes in an image. These paths can then be used to create effects in other parts of the image. For example, you can duplicate and move a path in an image to create a mirrored effect. You can also use paths to cut and paste images into each other or to add complex masking effects. The Pen tool allows you to draw with a variety of different tools or with a brush. You can use the Pen tool to create effects like strokes, text, or calligraphers, or to paint in and around objects in an image. You can use it to draw simple lines, create complex lines that are semi-transparent, or combine the Pen and Brush tools to create brush-like effects. The Magic Wand tool is a powerful selection tool that allows you to select and select all the areas of an image that have the same color as the color of the tool. You can then easily clean up the selection by merging it with other selections or moving it around. The Gradient tool allows you to create gradients, which are a series of colors that gradually transition from one color to another. The Gradient tool allows you to quickly select colors and create or edit them. You can use gradients to add simple effects, such as changing the background color or making images brighter. You can also create more complex gradients that have a gradual transition from one color to another. The Content-Aware Fill tool allows you to fill in an image with colors from the surrounding area. You can then use the content-aware fill tools to select the areas in the image that have been filled and use them to create something new in the image. The Shadows, Highlights, and Blur tools allow you to soften or harden shadows, highlights, and textures on an image. Shadows and highlights can make an image look grun
