Alpine ski equipment often includes items such as boots, pants, gloves, pucks, and the like. During the course of a day, a skier may put on and take off this equipment multiple times. As a result, these items often need cleaning. For example, after each day's use, the equipment may be dirty. In particular, when a skier is not wearing or carrying certain pieces of equipment, it is common for dirt to accumulate on the equipment. When the skier returns to
